Shoemaker Donnelly Stabs His Wife to Death with an Old Shoe Knife.

She Falls Dead in Her Daughter's Kitchen.

Indications That the Murder Was Deliberately Planned.

A brutal wife murder startled the Brookly olice this morning. Henry Donnelly, a shoemsker, who has been separated from his wife for nearly a year, me his wife, Bringet, in the a arimenia occupie by their daughter, 10 Columnia place, and after vainly endeavoring to get her to return and live with him, pulled out a small wedge shaped shoem-ker's knife and stabbed her the heart.

The brute jerked the knife out of the wonn and plunged it into her breast. Both blows were struck with all his strength.

The woman fell dead, Magyle Lawson, the aughter, who witnesse the horrible deed, yelled " Morder! " and at tempted to stop the gnastly work. She tried to wrench the knife from Donnelly's grasp, bu he pulled the weapon through her hand, cut ting it severely. The neighbors who heard the dauguter's orie ran to summon the police. The murderer coolly gathered up the knif and two r gors which he had concealed in his clothing and threw them in the stove. Then he put on his coat and hat and was bout to leave the house, ween he was met by

He was arrested and locked up in a cell in the station-house. Meantime an ambulance had been summone from St. Peter's Hospital, but when the sur seon arrived the woman lay dead on the floor. The kuife ha penetrated the heart
